

These are five key points everyone should know about the fire training and the safeguarding policy

- One should know the types of fire extinguishers and where to apply them
- One should know first aid to apply helping a choking person
- One should know first aid to apply helping someone who is not breathing
- maintain discipline
- excel in the studies